FUND NEEDS $300,000

Says The Student To The Grad

HAVE a smoke? Or are you like Bishop Brent who considers smoking an effeminate habit? Well anyway, let's sit down and talk the thing over. Pretty here now, isn't it? D'ye know it always makes me feel sorta like I was back home when I sit here on the steps of Painter. There's something about the Old Row that just naturally makes a fellow feel welcome around here. Looks just the same as it did when you were here, too, doesn't it?

* * *

"Just take a whiff of that breeze. I guess maybe a perfumer would give a lot to be able to put that up in a bottle, eh? It'd be a poor vamp who couldn't bat 1.000 if she had a quart of that stuff to sprinkle around. There's nothing like balmy spring air to get a fellow. Just can't keep my mind on books when it comes out bright like this. Pretty dress, that!

* * *

"But about that perfume idea. Wonder if a fellow couldn't salt down a couple of cubic miles of lazy spring atmosphere some way. I've got to pull some kind of a wild stunt to raise the cash I promised the college and that's about the wildest thing I've thought of yet. It's no use worrying, though. The money'll come in some way or other. Funny thing about anything like that. The hardest part of it is kidding yourself into signing a pledge card. I was like a ten-year-old trying to make up his mind to jump into the crick for the first swim of the season. Once I got in it wasn't half bad. I bet I'll feel all tingly with self-righteousness when I pay it off finally,too, just like the kid felt after he got out of the crick. I won't be wishing the woodshed would burn down before I got home, either.

* * *

"All I'm worrying about now is whether the alumni are going to come through like the gang did here on the campus. Seems to me they can't help but put the old College over the top. Sometimes I get kind of gloomy about it, thinking maybe that $261 is a lot of coin for a fellow with a family on his hands, but then again right after chapel or something like that I'll take a long look at the Green Mountains over there and something tells me that the folks will come through in a pinch.

* * *

"What's that? You say you've got an important letter to get in the mail? I hope I haven't bored you with all this chatter. Sometimes we fellows on the campus here are inclined to forget a little about the rest of the world. It doesn't do any harm though, I guess. They say there's nothing you remember like your college days. That's one reason I'm sure Middlebury is going to get her million. You're on your way? Well, goodby. Hope I see you again before you leave."

* * *

Down at the postoffice a few minutes later a scratchy pen sputtered its way across a pledge card and that night a puffing Rutland train carried a message to headquarters. And the warm light of next morning's sun was reflected in the heart of an alumnus who strolled reminiscently about the old familiar campus.

VERMONT TRIUMPHS OVER VARSITY IN HARD-FOUGHT GAME

First And Sixth Innings Fatal For Middlebury

GALLAGHER STARS

Both Towne And Durgin Pitch Fine Game—Vermont Infield Impregnable

With ideal weather conditions prevailing the Black Panther team was unable to overcome its ancient rivals on Porter Field Friday. Towne, pitching for Middlebury, was unable to get control until two men had scored, after which he followed with two strikeouts. Durgin pitched his regular splendid game and had fine control except in the fifth when he blew up temporarily as Middlebury scored her lone run of the contest. After the first inning the Varsity held the Green and Gold nine scoreless again until the sixth when Towne walked Chevalier, and McGinnis reached first on an error by Klevenow. Bradley hit and filled the bases. Eastburn made a foul bunt and Chevalier started a weird run toward home, was caught between bases, but finally circled Kilbride for a score. McGinnis scored on Duba's single.

Gallagher stole the batting honors for the afternoon and knocked two long liners into left field, one of them arching over the left field fence for three bases. Papke's single scored him making the only Blue and White run of the afternoon. Again in the seventh Gallagher poled out another three bagger over center field but was unable to reach home.

First Inning

Vermont: Conlin was walked and made second on a sacrifice hit by Chevalier, McGinnis reached first on Gallagher's error and stole second. Bradley hit, scoring Conlin and McGinnis. Eastburn and Carney struck out. 2.

Middlebury: Whitney reached first on McGinnis' error. Hastings hit to Conlin who caught Whitney running from first to second and doubled on Hastings at first. Novotny flied out to left field. 0.

Second Inning

Vermont: Duba and Ready struck out; Durgin hit safely and Conlin flied out to center field. 0.

Middlebury: Martin reached first on Durgin's error, Gallagher struck out Klevenow forced Martin off first. 0.

Third Inning

Vermont: Chevalier hit, but was caught out at second on throw from Martin to Klevenow, McGinnis flied out to right field and Bradley was caught out at first by Gallagher. 0.

Middlebury: Papke hit to Chevalier who threw him out at first, Kilbride flied out to center field and Towne hit to Chevalier who threw him at first. 0.

Fourth Inning

Vermont: Eastburn was hit by ball and given first, Carney bunted but Kilbride threw him out at first. Gallagher doubled the ball to Whitney who caught Carney out on third. Duba flied out to right field. 0.

Middlebury: Whitney flied out to McGinnis, Hastings flied out to left field, Novotny reached first on Duba's error. Martin flied out to McGinnis.

BOWDOIN WINS N. E. INTERCOLLEGIATES

Wittenberg's Long Heave Gives Blue 2 Points

Stowers of Williams Takes Quarter In 49 1-5

Middlebury's quartet of track men who journeyed to Cambridge last week to participate in the New England Intercollegiate events at Tech Field found themselves in pretty fast company and as a result were able to garner but two points for the Blue and White. Frank Wittenberg's heave of 38 feet, 10½ inches in the 16-pound shot put won Middlebury a third place in the final summary.

Bowdoin, for the first time in twenty four years won the meet, due mainly to the efforts of Bishop, a pole vaulter; and of Tootell, the Maine giant who smashed the record in the hammer throw, won the discus event, and placed second in the shot put.

Middlebury's hopes ran high on Saturday for in the trials of the previous day, "Doc" Cook qualifiied in the quarter mile and Wittenberg in the shot put. Kendall, the Blue and White half miler was eliminated in the trials. However, in the finals neither Capt. Shelvey nor Cook placed. Stowers of Williams, who nosed out Cook in Middlebury's dual meet with the Purple, won the quarter event in the fast time of 49 1-5, equalling the record set by Jake Driscoll, the Boston College flyer in 1921.

Both the other Vermont colleges placed in the meet, U. V. M. tying Middlebury with 2 points, while the versatile Bellerose of Norwich gained 1½ points.

Despite the fact that Middlebury gained but two points, Frank Wittenberg's shot putting so steadily improved that he defeated the M. I. T. man, who was expected to place second. A second in this event would have given the Cambridge engineers the necessary points to win the meet.

The points were scored as follows: Bowdoin 29 1-3; M. I. T. 24; Williams 23; Wesleyan 19; Amherst 16 1-3; Boston College 12 1-3; Bates 12; Maine 11; Boston University 5; University of New Hampshire 1½; Brown 2; Middlebury 2; Vermont 2; Holy Cross 2; Norwich 1½; Massachusetts Agricultural College 1.

MIDDLEBURY LOSES FIRST STATE CONTEST

St. Michael's Wins Game on Heavy Field

Hastings Scores On Clever Steal In First Inning

Playing the first game of the State Championship series last week Middlebury lost to St. Michael's by a 6 to 1 count at Winooski on Thursday. The game was fast all the way but Middlebury was unable to get going sufficiently to break through her opponents' defense.

The game was played on a wet, heavy field which interfered with quick fielding. In the first inning, Hastings reached first on Fitzgibbon's error. He stole second and was advanced to third on Novotny's long liner to left field. With Martin at bat, Hastings took a long chance and raced for the home plate, making it safe by a fraction and scoring the only run for the Blue and White that day.

Fifth Inning Disastrous

Until the fifth the game was Middlebury's and the Winooski collegians were able to gather but one hit off Williams, who had struck out seven of the Purple and Gold batters. Fitzgibbons came to bat for St. Michael's and hit safely, Hale followed with another bingle and advanced Fitzgibbons to second. Maroney came to bat and beat out a bunt, reaching first and filling the bases, At this point Coach Morey sent Witham in for Williams. Delaney hit safely and scored Fitzgibbons and Hale, while Maroney was caught out at home in an attempt to come in from second. McDonald flied out to Whitney and Quinn to Gallagher.

Again in the sixth the Purple and Gold scored on errors. Neither team scored in the seventh, but in the eighth the up-state team came thru with 3 more runs. Meade hit a long drive to

REPORT FOR WEEK SHOWS NECESSITY OF 2-6-1 QUOTAS

Increase of Only $26,363 is Recorded Over Previous Period; Total Now Subscribed is $691,484.17

Three hundred thousand dollars is needed to make the Middlebury Million a reality. Incomplete reports for last week brought the total up to only $691,484.17. This was an increase of but $26,363.67 over the week before.

Complete reports for the week are not expected to raise the total to more than $700,000, leaving $300,000 to be secured in the final days of the campaign. For the bulk of this sum yet to be raised the College must look to the alumni and their individual quotas.

The whole scheme of the campaign depends for its success upon assumption of individual responsibility by members of the alumni body. On the response of the graduates at this time will the endowment fund be secured or lost.

A message from headquarters urges that local chairmen be exact in making weekly reports to their district chairman. It is essential that the total increase for the week be plainly indicated and that if a grand total is included it should be separate from the amount to be reported for the week.

Although the campaign was scheduled to close May 25 the work will not stop until the entire million has been subscribed. The offer of the General Education Board expires July 1 and if its gift is to be obtained quick action is necessary on the pledges not yet signed.

THE MILLION

To raise a million dollars, thru solicitation, apparently is not an easy task. Yet it has been demonstrated to be a not impossible task. The apparent slow progress of the endowment drive during the last few weeks, we venture to say, is due to the fact that many of those to whom the appeal is being made do not yet realize how much Middlebury needs their own individual support.

The unselfish and untiring zeal of the divisional chairmen, committee members, and the leaders of the campaign sets an excellent example to the rank and file. Busy men, bearing great responsibilities and cares of their own, these leaders are giving freely of their time and energy to the raising of Middlebury's Million. They are doing it because they have faith in Middlebury, and in her capacity for development. They are doing it for the sake of the youth who, in the future, will find their way to the "college on the hill."

Inasmuch as over half of the required million was subscribed when the intensive drive began on April 28, some may have been led to lie back on their oars, feeling that their efforts were not badly needed after all. The subsequent reluctance of the mercury to rise in the thermometer, however, proves that every man's bit is needed, and that without delay. The fact, also, that a large part of the sum already pledged will be available only as the balance of the million is raised, should stimulate every "son of Midd" to instant action.

KIGHT UP TO THE FINISH!

The work of the second semester is actually drawing near a close. The fact means much to all of us. Some are looking forward simply to a pleasant ending of the college year, some to the summer months, and others to the beginning of their life-work. In any case the thought of studies is not uppermost in the minds of most of us.

Perhaps it is due to the lassitude of the warm spring weather, or perhaps to an exaggerated feeling of confidence in the merciful tendencies of certain professors, that studying is being discontinued. At any rate, there is a very natural tendency to let things slide near the end of the year. We seem to forget that the finish of the race is most important. What a feeling of satisfaction we have, however, when the year is over, to realize that we neither wasted the last month nor allowed ourselves to be distracted by the call of spring!

The production of the 1924 Kaleidoscope Board deserves more than passing notice. From the standpoint of artistic construction, it is outstanding, and probably has not been surpassed or even equalled since the extraordinary "Laurea," issued by the class of 1900. The scope and comprehensive quality of the 1924 publication sets a high standard for future Kaleidoscope Boards. The near perfection of the book typographically shows an exceedingly careful reading of the proof. Its sound financial condition, moreover, considering the moderate price for which it has been sold, points to a shrewd and business-like management. Having assumed its task under no particularly auspicious circumstances, the Kaleidoscope Board is indeed worthy of unqualified commendation.

2——6——1

We wish to suggest a new custom. It might even grow to be one of those hard and fast things known as "traditions." Of course, there is that possibility, and it is well to be careful, but it really would not be a great deprivation if, by general consent, smoking was forbidden on the steps and in front of Mead Memorial Chapel. Smoking in the presence of ladies is no longer considered a serious breach of etiquette. The flippant, heedless use of the weed, however, in the very shadow of the lofty portico on which is chiseled one of the noblest thoughts of all time, is, to say the least, an exhibition of bad taste.

COMMUNICATION

Member of Class of 1888 Moved By Influence of Green Mountains

May 18 1923

Dear Editor:

I have already sent my pledge for more than 2-6-1. I wish I had more friends than I have from whom to ask for a pledge.

I was almost moved to send a communication stating the influence of Middlebury's hills and mountains on my life when I read the recent "Green Mountains Charm Visitor" in May 2nd's issue. That influence has remained until today and grows stronger every year.

Yours,
Herbert W. Denio.

Middlebury and Connecticut Akin, Says Hartford Paper

Courant Tells of Early Migrations To Vermont—Gamaliel Painter a Native of Nutmeg State

The Hartford (Conn.) Courant in its Sunday magazine section on May 6 published a full page feature story entitled "Middlebury College Akin To Connecticut" in which many long forgotten links in the chain of history were recalled to emphasize the close relation of the "nutmeg state" with the Green Mountain region.

The Courant is one of the oldest newspapers in the United States, and when it was first published, one hundred fifty-nine years ago, a matter of some domestic concern in Connecticut was the number of folks who were then migrating to that lawless and unchartered wilderness which lay between New York and New Hampshire, and which was claimed by each.

"If the Litchfield and Roxbury correspondents of those early days," says the Courant, "had sensed the full import of the news, in the light of history that has since been made, what splendid stories could have been written around the fact that Ethan Allen and Seth Warner, two young adventurers of those towns, were among those who decided to trek their way to the Green Mountains."

The story recalls Ethan Allen's operations in the vicinity of Middlebury, and notes that although this period is looked back to as a supposedly lawless time, Allen was really paving the way for law and order and plowing the field for nobler things.

"In less than twenty-five years after Allen had abandoned his cave, there was founded in the neighboring town of Middlebury a College with which Connecticut has had a remarkably strong relation from its very beginning to the present day. Gamaliel Painter, the most conspicuous of the Middlebury citizens who organized Middlebury College one hundred twenty-three years ago, was a native of Connecticut as were more than a score of others identified with the early history of the College."

Faith, the Great Need of Youth, Says Col. Axton

Church Needs the Pep and Life That Young People Put Into Other Things

"Faith is the giving of substance to things hoped for," was the essence of the sermon at vespers Sunday, delivered by Colonel John T. Axton of Washington, D. C. Col. Axton enlarged upon the subject of faith as the prime requisite of a religion, with numerous illustrations to support his theory. "The world needs more religion," is the war cry of the reformers of the age. But Col. Axton claims that what the world needs is not more religion but a better application of the religion we already have. The pessimists declare that religion is sinking into the background of modernism. Col. Axton pointed out that today in New York City, the most popular play of the season, attracting thousands, "The Fool," is based supremely on religion. Drama is bringing before the people the problems of religion in such a way as can no other institution.

It is the younger generation that stands in the utmost need of religion as based on faith. Youth today demands a thrill. In the daily life of young people, in their athletics, in their ambitions, the famous twins, figuratively speaking, pep and snap are omnipresent. But they are obviously lacking to religion. It is the energy, the abundant faith of the youth, that is needed in the church.

"Faith is the giving of substance to things hoped for," repeated Col. Axton, "The testing of things unseen."

There may sometimes be a sense of confusion between faith and a clear presumption. But when youth has been tried and chastened by some great experience doubts dissolve and the path is made clear.

Lastly Col. Axton brought to mind the age old platitudes, the old fashioned virtues, which though trite are after all, fundamentals.

VERMONT CITIZENS TO START CAMPAIGN

To Have Part In Raising Middlebury's Million

Major R. W. McCuen of Burlington In Charge Of Publicity

The Vermont Citizens Campaign in support of the Million Dollar Endowment Fund starts Monday, May 21st, and continues for ten days to June 1st, according to the announcement made by Major Robert W. McCuen of Burlington, who has charge of the publicity for the Campaign in Vermont.

The General Committee for the Campaign has invited sixty-six prominent citizens of Vermont representing every section of the State to comprise the Citizens Campaign which will cooperate to provide proper publicity to the citizens of Vermont, to give them a more comprehensive idea of the value of Middlebury College to the State, and the needs and worth of the College at the present time. It will give every citizen of Vermont a better knowledge of what the College has accomplished, and a broader prospective on the Middlebury of tomorrow.

While Middlebury College has never had an official connection with any Church, it has been strong in its religious associations and it has been asked that the Churches of the State during the coming days carry to their congregations in some manner the message of Middlebury's service as a religious force in Vermont. In various Towns and Cities arrangements are being made for some public meetings and others have established organizations through which Middlebury's appeal may be made known, but in the main the Campaign is of an informal nature, merely presenting an opportunity for Vermonters to invest in better education by enabling Middlebury to maintain a high standard of instruction and low rate of tuition.

An intensive campaign will be conducted by the Citizens Campaign Committee to support the work of the Alumni who are solociting for the Million Dollar Fund. The program of publicity will include special articles in the newspapers, circular letters to various citizens of the State, endorsement of the Campaign by civic, educational and community organizations, to have the Churches give out the message of Middlebury's achievement and contribution as a religious force and character builder, and to arrange public meetings in several Cities and Towns of the State.

Varsity To Meet Vermont Again Thursday

Rensselaer Polytechnic To Be Next Opponent—Game at Troy Saturday

Approaching the close of the baseball season, the Blue and White nine will play two out-of-town games this week. It will meet the University of Vermont at Burlington on Thursday afternoon to play the postponed game of last week, and on Saturday will go to Troy where it will stack bats with the R. P. I. engineers, in the next to the last game away from home.

The game of Thursday afternoon should be one of the most interesting of the season, in view of the fact that Middlebury has lost both of the state games thus far. It is a certainty that the Black Panther outfit will be out to claw a win from the Green and Gold team and the chances of a Middlebury victory seem bright, after the showing made by the rival nines on Porter Field last Friday.

The Troy engineers have not been travelling at a particularly fast gait this season in baseball and Middlebury should not find them an especially formidable opponent when they meet on the diamond Saturday.

Blue Net-Men Lose To Vermont Here Saturday

Rich and Clowar Win Doubles Match After Hard Fight—Final Score 5-1

Vermont's veteran tennis team downed the Middlebury net-men five matches to one on the lower campus courts last Saturday. The result was never in doubt, for the Green and Gold racquet wielders, on the last leg of a successful eastern trip, were in top notch form. Myers was the only Middlebury man to extend his opponent to three sets in the singles matches.

The play was slow and the large gallery of spectators which came out to view the tournament thinned out considerably after the first few singles matches had been played. The match between Capt. Campbell of Vermont and Capt. Ashley of Middlebury proved to be the best singles matches of the afternoon's contest.

After dropping five straight matches, Rich and Clowar saved Middlebury from a complete white washing by taking a hardly contested match from Guild and Roberts of U. V. M.

The match scores were as follows: Singles: Campbell (V) defeated Ashley (M) 6-4, 6-3. Roberts (V) defeated Rich (M) 6-4, 6-1. Edmund (V) defeated Clowar (M) 6-2, 6-2. Guild (V) defeated Myers (M) 7-9, 6-4, 6-2.

Faculty Makes New Curriculum Requirement

At a meeting of the faculty last week, a change in the major and minor requirements was voted. Beginning with the class of 1926, each student will be required to complete two majors and one minor, distributed in the three different groups, instead of one major and two minors as now required. This will apply to students working for either the degree of A. B. or B. S. The rule which sets the minimum number of courses in any group at 6, and the maximum at 20, will still remain in force.

This change will not affect the upper classes who have already elected majors and minors.

Undergrads Vote to Award Athletic Sweaters

Choose Athletic Council For Year—Elect Lorenzo Head Cheer-Leader

At last night's meeting of the Undergraduate Association, it was voted to award every letterman a standard athletic sweater, and to place a second award at the discretion of the Association. It was also voted to create a permanent sweater committee to attend to the granting of sweaters.

The following men were elected to the Athletic Council for the year 1923-24: Peck '24, Long '25, Witham '24, Brainerd '24, Carboy '25, and Axtell '24. The Athletic Council recommended that the following men be awarded varsity letters in track: Shelvey '23, captain, Cook '24, Sikorski '23, Cass '25, Oliver '25, Kendall '24, Crane '24, Peck '24, Fish '26, Wittenberg '26, Hollquist '25, Carboy '25, Gray '23, Finch '26, and Klock '23, manager. Lorenzo '24, was elected head cheerleader for next year.

After some discussion, the sentiment of the body was expressed as favoring a strictly interclass track meet between Freshmen and Sophomores to be held on Porter Field Saturday afternoon.

At this meeting, the new officers of the Association were installed, Cook '24, succeeding Kalin '23, in the president's chair.

Cake Eater

—model of 1900

He was called dude and dandy then, but you recognize the type.

He majored in haberdashery and took his degree with honors in soxology.

As if that were not enough, he evolved some variations on the cake walk which made them stare.

He even found time to develop a remarkable proficiency on the tandem bicycle, and on Saturday nights he was good enough to bring pleasure into Another's life by wheeling away to the "Ten-Twent-Thirt."

To crowd all this into four short years would seem enough for any mortal. Yet in spite of his attainments there are times, in after life, when our hero wonders.

The glory of his waistcoats has long since faded, while his books are still fresh and clean. Did he perchance put too much thought into the selection of his hats and too little in what went under them?
